Retrial of Widow's Suit 1,475 Violators Convicted, Against Undertaker Ordered If the urn which William Necker, Inc., undertakers, delivered to Mrs. traffic law violators paid $18,215 in fines Rosalie Stahl really contains the ashes of her husband, Carl M. Stahl, then the issued yesterday by Magistrate House, cremation of his body at Union Hill. The urn with the ashes bore the date on the calendar. Besides, any date in April would have been before the death of Mr. Stahl. Mrs. Stahl brought suit structed the jury that Mrs. Stahl might recover damages because of the wrong date even if the jury decided she received the right ashes. In reversing the judgment and ordering a new trial the Appellate Division decided that the court erred in his charge.

Mr. Stahl died May 5, 1916. His widow arranged with Necker for the cremation of his body at Union Hill.

Idlers Work a Week To Get Zone Cards

against Necker. The trial court in War Plant Credentials Used to Escape Arrest Under Anti-Loafing Law

One of the means by which chronic idlers try to evade the provisions of the anti-loafing law was revealed yesterday, when Samuel Levy, of 1 Pike judgment for $15,400 obtained against Street, was arraigned in Tombs court. Levy produced one of the cards used by government officials to identify judgment was characterized by the workmen. It bore his photograph, so that in proceeding to Governor's Island he could pass the zone guards. The card was obtained by Levy three weeks ago, but he had worked only one week and had since used the card to avoid owner an arrest.

Police officials declared that in hundreds of instances men have applied for government work only to obtain the cards, which though they stopped work immediately afterward, they have been using ever since to evade the loafer net.

Hearn Employes to Witness War Films

The entire seating capacity of the George M. Cohan Theatre for the evenings of August 8 and 9 has been purchased by James A. Hearn & Son, so that the large staff of their Fourteenth Street store may view the official war films of the United States army and navy. The theatre is not large enough to accommodate all the Hearn employes at one time, and for that reason the at one time, and for that reason the house was "bought out" for a second night. The films, exhibited for patriotic purposes, show pictures of transports and of American troops in France.

South American Exploration Pictures Used as Lure to Attract Young Heir

Under a decision rendered yesterday by the Appellate Division Martin C. Wright, son of William J. Wright, a former Tammany leader and Deputy Commissioner of Charities, must pay a him by Joseph H. Cohen. The transaction which resulted in the suit and court as "a very common, deliberate

A few months after the death of George H. Huber, veteran dime museum owner and real estate operator, his young widow, who inherited most of his estate, married Martin C. Wright.

Charges Conspiracy

It was alleged by Cohen that Wright conspired with Charles B. Toole, a broker, and J. B. G. Rinehart, a lawyer, to defraud him out of $20,000 in the to defraud him out of $20,000 in the sale of stock of the Globe Cooperative Film Company. He sued to recover that amount. Judgment was rendered against the three defendants, but Rinehart did not join in the appeal from the verdict. In the case of 7oole, the Appellate Division ordered a new trial on the ground that the trial justice failed to instruct the jury that certain testimony against Wright should not be considered as against Toole.

be considered as against Toole.

Cohen, who then was twenty-four years old, inherited $20,000 from his grandfather. He was introduced to Toole after being induced to believe he could increase his fortune by speculating in cotton futures. Wright, who was employed by Toole, interested the inexperienced young man in the possibilities of the moving picture stock.

Wright told him the company controlled a South American exploration film which would prove as valuable as the African hunt pictures of Paul J. Rainey, which Wright said had earned $1,000,000. Wright also represented that he had invested in the stock for his mother and was using all his spare ca.h in buying the film shares.

Rinehart was represented as a director of the company, and, according to Wright, had authorized him to sell a few $10 shares for $6 a share. There was a private exhibition of the him, which so impressed Cohen that he consented to buy the stock, which he testified Toole had told him would advance to $13 a share on the curb, where it was to be listed.
